DEVELOPMENT AND CLIMATE DAY, 6 JUNE 2009

International Conference and Film Festival

The next round of UN Climate Change Negotiations will take place from 1st to 12th June at Bonn. So far little attention has been paid to the people and countries particularly affected by the impacts of climate change. The Conference "Survival at stake? What is needed in Copenhagen for the most vulnerable?" will deal with this issue. It will put a focus on those people, communities and countries whose survival is at stake, who are most vulnerable to the adverse effects of climate change. In particular, it will

- highlight recent science results and their implications for climate-resilient development;
- present successful examples of adaptation, including from the community level, and how Copenhagen can enhance such approaches;
- advance the debate of future support for national adaptation strategies in developing countries and their role in a Copenhagen Agreement;
- promote the development of alliances between governments, civil society etc. on the way to Copenhagen.

A parallel Film Festival will show how people cope with the impacts of climate change world wide. For more information visit
