

Institut pro evropskou politiku
EUROPEUM
Institute for European Policy

HEINRICH BÖLL STIFTUNG
PRAGUE

TRANSITION
Transition Promotion Program

Dear colleagues and friends,

EUROPEUM Institute for European Policy and Heinrich-Böll-Stiftung Prague are pleased to invite you to panel discussion on Ukraine and Crimea in the framework of the Forum 2000 Conference.

Vážený kolegové, milí přátelé,

Institut pro evropskou politiku EUROPEUM a pražská kancelář

nadace Heinrich-Böll-Stiftung vás zvou na panelovou diskusi věnovanou Ukrajině a Krymu pořádanou v rámci konference Forum 2000.

Crimea – A Forgotten Peninsula?

Panelists:

Sergii Kostynskyi, adviser to the Minister of information policy (Ukraine)
Fedor Kravchenko, independent lawyer, Media Lawyers Collegium (Russia)
Emir Asan, journalist (Crimea)

Moderated by Věra Řiháčková, Europeum

Languages: English and Russian

15 September, 2015, 14:00 -15:30 (Tuesday)

Venue: European House

Jungmannova 24, Prague 1 (show map)

One and half year ago Crimea was in the center of the Ukrainian crisis that have developed into conflict between Russia and the West. Among other crises, Europe, and also Ukraine are forgetting about Crimea, at least in the eyes of the shrinking number of journalists and civil rights activists who are striving to remain active in the public space in the peninsula. This panel will address the current political and social developments in Crimea, especially how implementation of Russian legal environment is reflected in the life of journalists, civil rights activists and ordinary people.